"Gasarama" Coming to Local Schools

Star narrators in the coming "Gasarama" science show are Edward Eskey, Vincent Zuch and Miss Michele Willson.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will present its national award winning science show, "Gasarama," to Frederick High School students at 8:50 a.m. Tuesday, April 7th, according to an announcement by Robert L. McIntosh, area manager of the utility and H. B. Billeter, principal of the high school.

The show will also be presented at Grayling High School at 9 a.m. the following day, April 8, in cooperation with Mr. E. L. Fenton, school principal.

Adults are invited to attend. The company's science show was also presented Tuesday, March 24, to St. Mary's High School students in Grayling and to Gaylord high school students on Wednesday, March 25.

Mr. McIntosh said his company is sending the "Gasarama" cast and a special truck load of stage settings from Detroit to present their live stage show locally.

"Michigan Consolidated is doing this as a public service. We want to encourage high school students to take a deeper interest in their science studies. 'Gasarama' is aimed at proving science can be fun," McIntosh said.

With dramatic lighting and staging, Ed Eskey and Vincent Zuch, members of the "Gasarama" cast, will show students how geologists locate deposits of natural gas far underground through the use of a seismograph.

Using black light and fluorescent painted maps, the cast shows how natural gas is pumped 1-200 miles to Michigan from Texas and Louisiana and how it is stored underground for use during the cold months of winter. A miniature gas engine demonstrates how natural gas runs large engines which are used to generate electricity, pump water, drive air conditioning compressors and do other vital jobs in industry.

Miss Michele Willson, the third member of the cast, tells the important part natural gas plays in the new field of petrochemicals and how many of the things we use and wear every day are derived from by-products of natural gas.

Other interesting demonstrations include a "Sputnik" balloon filled with natural gas showing that natural gas is lighter than air and how natural gas can be made to burn under water with the proper gas-air mixture. A fuel cell demonstrates how electricity can be generated directly from gases.

James C. Preston, general manager of the company's Northern District said, "Michigan Consolidated Gas Company believes that our Gasarama show will help stimulate the thinking of students in their study of science. This is a field that offers real challenge and a future unlimited for young people who are willing to study."

During the first phase of the Red Cross drive held in October $891.71 was raised. ## Beaver Creek School District Vote Saturday

Electorate of the Beaver Creek School District Number One, Crawford County, will go to the polls this coming Saturday, March 28th to vote on the proposal of annexing with the Grayling Public Schools.

Those voting will receive three ballots, one covering the annexation proposal. The other two will cover money matters. The first ballot which is the annexation proposal carries the following question:

Shell School District No. 1, Beaver Creek Township, Crawford County, Michigan, become annexed to Grayling Public Schools, Crawford and Kalkaska Counties, Michigan?

The second ballot which would allow a tax rate limitation increase for operation would bring the taxes in the Beaver Creek District to the same level as now exists in the entire Grayling District. The ballot's question is as follows:

Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in School District No. 1, Beaver Creek Township, Crawford County, Michigan, be increased by five-tenths of one per cent (0.5%) (5 mills) of the assessed valuation, as equalized, of all property in said school district for a period of three (3) years, 1964, 1965 and 1966, for operating purposes, such increase presently being in effect in Grayling Public Schools, Crawford and Kalkaska Counties, Michigan?

The third ballot is a proposition to assume bonded indebtedness of the Grayling Public School District. This proposal would have the property owners in the Beaver Creek District assume only their pro-rata share of the Grayling District's bonded indebtedness. The question of the third ballot is worded as follows:

Shall School District No. 1, Beaver Creek Township, Crawford County, Michigan, assume the pro-rata share of the 1963 bonded indebtedness of Grayling Public Schools, Crawford and Kalkaska Counties, Michigan?

Each ballot requires either a "yes" or "no" vote.

At present 46 students from this district are attending the Grayling Public School on a tuition basis.

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York — A special report on the nation's labor force shows that the number of Crawford County residents who are on public administration payrolls — Federal, state and local — is relatively large.

It indicates that there are more local people engaged in purely governmental functions, per 1,000 workers, than there are in most sections of the country.

The findings are from a new study released by the Department of Commerce, entitled "Occupational Characteristics," and from other data compiled by the Census Bureau.

There is greater interest than ever in public employment and in public payrolls because government, at all levels, is playing an ever-increasing role in the lives of people.

Listed under "public administration" are those who are employed by legislative, judicial or executive bodies and, in addition, those in the postal service.

In Crawford County, it is shown, there are 121 men and women who are in the public administration phase of government work.

It amounts to 74 persons in such jobs for every 1,000 in the total working population.

Throughout the United States as a whole, by comparison, there are 50 public administration employees per 1,000 and, in the East North Central States, 38.

There are many local people, besides these, who work for other governmental agencies, outside the field of public administration.

School teachers, persons employed in municipally-operated services and those on public hospital staffs are examples.

In Crawford County, the number who are on government payrolls in the various "other" capacities is given as 147, bringing the total number in government employ to 268.

As a proportion of the entire working force, it amounts to one person out of every 6 on a government payroll.

Don't Keep It Under Your Hat

This is the season when the ladies bring out new hats and spring finery. And, when one shopper discovers what she considers some real bargains, she usually tells her friends about it.

Perhaps this is why you see so many of your friends when you shop local stores. Word gets around. One person tells another, and so on. When you stop to think about it, it makes sense. Local stores can offer merchandise equal to that to be found anywhere, usually at a better price.

If, for one reason or another, you have gotten out of the habit of shopping local stores first, take our advice and visit these friendly people. You should find some bargains you'd like to tell your friends about.

The Best Policemen . . .

The lady presidential assistant for consumers affairs, it seems, has small faith in the probity of this country's producers and retailers — or in the intelligence and caniness of the American housewife.

She takes a slide rule to market, to more accurately measure the relative contents of various kinds of packaged wares, and she is an enthusiastic backer of the so-called "Truth-in-Packaging" and "Truth-in-Lending" bills. These proposed measures would, in the view of responsible authorities, place heavy and costly burdens on manufacturers and retailers. In some instances, it would be next to impossible to comply with their provisions.

The Portland Oregonian has made an apt comment on all this: "Maybe there should be some federal control over gimmicks in packaging. But the housewives of America are the best policemen of marketing practices anyone could wish for. Competition for the food and household dollar is keen. Supermarkets are abundant. If a woman finds that one brand is selling her mostly air in the big package or that a butcher is concealing bone, she has the perfect weapon: Purchase of another brand or patronage of another meat market."

Many a product has gone off the store counters, at heavy cost to the hopefuls who produced it because the consumer didn't feel it offered good value. Many a store has failed because it didn't please enough housewives. In a competitive economy, buttressed by intelligent buyers, and existing laws, it is the good product, and the store offering top value which succeed.

Spring Is Here . . .

"If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?" Those famous lines were written by Shelley long ago, in his "Ode to the West Wind". They are found in just about every anthology of poetry, and with good reason. The rigors of Winter bring a longing for a mild and blossoming season. And Spring is a symbol of renewed life. Every bush, every shrub, every tree, every flower burgeons toward its maturity. It is the most gladsome of all the seasons.

And it is more than that. It is a time for the healthiest, most pleasurable of tasks. The grass must be mowed. The roses must be sprayed. The shrubbery must be pruned and tended. There are all manner of duties that need looking after about the house and the grounds. They may be hard, for a time, on unused muscles, but they leave a lasting sense of accomplishment in their wake.

Then, spring vacations call to millions of us. It is a splendid time to see new country — by train, car, plane, any means of conveyance. We broaden our horizons, and we add new dimensions to our minds.

Officially, Spring came to use on March 20 — as always a most welcome guest!

Marriott and Francis Wilcox have been selected for induction by the local Draft Board and are scheduled to report to induction station at 1040 West Ford Street, Detroit, on April 1st. Marriott is residing in Detroit and is not required to return to Grayling for purpose of induction. Papers have been forwarded to Board No. 19 of Wayne County who will handle his induction. In case one or more of the men named above may not be inducted by the armed forces in Detroit the following men may be required as replacements and will be notified at least five days before time to report. They are: Paul Ostrander, Eugene King, Morden Post, Charles Post and Carl Frederickson.

Matters pertaining to city affairs necessitated a visit to the State Military Board at Lansing last Friday. Those in the party were Mayor George Burke, City Manager George Granger and City Attorney Charles Moore. O. P. Schumann too was in the party. Matters pertaining to the renewal of the lease or sale of the local airport was the principal topic of discussion. The present lease will expire some time next summer and it is the desire that the Military department either purchase the airport or provide a 15-year lease from the city. All angles of the matter were presented and the local committee was assured that it would be presented before the next meeting of the Military board which would be within a week or two. Col. LeRoy Pearson and Lt. Col. Roy Sindlinger were the officers interviewed. They gave the local committee every courtesy and consideration, for this is a matter of vital interest to the Military department as well as to the City of Grayling.

Of interest to friends of Bert Confer, Sr. of this city will be the announcement of his marriage to Miss Ruth Hiedeman of Higgins Lake. Clayton Anthony, when roads were impassable last Thursday owing to the heavy snow, flew his plane to the farm home of his parents in Fletcher to deliver a number of little chicks that had come in the morning mail.

Mrs. Charles Melcher, Mrs. J. L. Martin and Mrs. William Krage were hostesses for the regular social meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday evening. Pincchle was enjoyed with Miss Margrethe Nielsen and Miss Ingeborg Hanson carrying off the scoring honors.

John Krage, who was ten years old Tuesday, enjoyed having 17 boys as his guests after school that afternoon. There were indoor games and the lucky winners were Junior Gierke, Victor Papendick and Junior Peterson. John proved himself a patriot when he ordered red, white and blue frosted cakes for his birthday. His mother, Mrs. William Krage, filled the bill to perfection, and with the cakes was plenty of homemade ice cream.

Chevrolet will go to any length to make you happy

Things have changed a lot since a Chevy was only a Chevy. Especially your ideas of what you want a Chevy to be.

So now you have the Jet-smooth Chevrolet—17½ feet of pure luxury, bumper to bumper. The size makes it a luxury car. But not the price.

Or you can choose the thrifty Chevy II, a 15¼-foot family car with all kinds of passenger and luggage space.

This year, your choice might be the new 16-foot-plus Chevrolet, sized to fit nicely between Chevrolet and Chevy II (and between parking meters, with five whole feet left over).

Then, too, there's the sporty 15-foot Corvair, so right for so many people (you girls, in particular) that we've never touched an inch of it. And finally, Corvette—still 14½ feet and still too much for any true sports-car lover to say no to.

The long and short of it is, you don't have to go to any length to find exactly the kind of car you want. Just see the five different lines of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Fort Sill, Okla. (AHTNC) — Pvt. William C. Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Watkins, Route 1, Frederic, Mich., is scheduled to complete advanced artillery training as a cannoneer at the Army Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla., April 1.

Watkins is receiving instruction which will prepare him to serve as a crewman in field artillery gun and howitzer crews.

The 23-year-old soldier entered the Army in November 1963 and received basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

He was graduated from Gaylord Community High School in 1960.

Adoption Demands in State Down

BABY DEMAND DOWN
Adoption activities in Michigan are not following the national trend if the records of one major adoption agency are indicative.

Michigan's Children's Aid Society has been noting a period of relatively equal supply and demand. Nationally, records indicate a surplus of children available for adoption.

The Society, a Community Chest organization, places about one third of the children adopted in Michigan annually. During the last few years this third has been around the 500 mark.

Paperwork and personal conferences with prospective parents are a major part of the adoption process.

The Society has offices in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Traverse City, Holland, Pontiac, Flint, Alpena, Marquette, St. Joseph, Bay City and Lansing. The staff consists largely of case workers with masters degrees.

Most babies available through the society are born to unwed mothers, notes a spokesman for the organization. The women are referred to the agency by doctors, lawyers, hospitals, courts or clergymen usually.

Prospective parents are carefully screened to determine their ability to provide a good home for a child.

Only couples unable to have children of their own are considered. The agency spokesman said this stipulation tends to keep the parent-child supply and demand more even.

Adoption in Michigan becomes legally final after one year of provisional placement of a child. During this 12-month period, a case worker for Children's Aid Society or other agencies like it visits the home to be sure the pre-placement assessment was valid.

Couples may adopt as many children as the agency feels they can provide for. The recurrence of adoption in one home, however, is sometimes affected by the availability of homes and children.

ECONOMIC EDUCATION

Community colleges in Michigan would become the central points for administration of vocational-technical training under a plan now promoted by a group of educators. Michigan Council of Community College Administrators hopes to gain support for its program from other educator groups and ultimately from state officials.

Dr. Max S. Smith, director of Michigan State University's office of community college cooperation, developed and sold the plan to the administrators' council.

Federal funds might be available for such a program under a Congressional act to aid communities which develop vocational-technical training programs.

The idea of putting such programs in the community colleges developed because within a few years every area of the state will be part of a community college district, Smith said.

Promoters of the idea say that a community college could serve as a vocational center for high schools within its district in addition to providing such a service to adults in evening programs.

Already on the lawbooks in Michigan, machinery needed to put the program into effect in community colleges, the author of the plan said.

The success of community college administration of the training work is forecast by the fact that many technical education students now in community colleges accept positions even before completing their training, said Smith.

DIABETES DEATHS

Diabetes, a generally controllable disease, is claiming too many lives in Michigan, Health Department records show.

During 1962, the latest complete figures available, deaths from diabetes reached an all-time high of 1,908.

"Many of these deaths could have been prevented had the disease been discovered at an early stage when it is most easily controlled," said Dr. John A. Cowan, director of adult health.

No cure for diabetes has been found but early diagnosis, medical supervision, proper diet and insulin or drug therapy can enable most diabetics to live normal lives and have a full life expectancy.

Cowan said an estimated 50,000 people in Michigan have diabetes but only about half this number realize it.

INCOME TAX INFO

IS IT TAXABLE

All amounts paid to you as compensation for personal services must be included in your gross income. Therefore, you must report wages, salaries, commissions, tips and other fees received. Sometimes payment is in goods or services rather than money. In such cases, the fair market value of such goods and services must be shown as income on your income tax return. The value of meals and lodgings you might receive are not income if furnished on the employer's premises and are for his convenience.

An individual who receives wages or salary from an employer must have a Form W-2 attached to the return. An individual who has more than one employer may have more than $174.00 of Social Security tax withheld must pay. If so, this excess is allowed as additional income tax withheld when filing the return.

The instruction books prepared by the Internal Revenue Service gives the average taxpayer the necessary help to properly prepare his income tax return. You are urged to first read the instructions, then start preparing your return. If a question arises, write your local Internal Revenue Service office for the answer.

If in doubt about the filing requirements, write the U. S. Treasury Dept., Internal Revenue Service, Detroit, Mich. 48231.

P.T.A. REPORT

The regular meeting of the Grayling P.T.A. was held Monday night March 23rd in the High School gym. An excellent turnout of around sixty people heard the evening's program, a panel discussion of five questions:

1. What are our responsibilities to our children regarding their education?

2. Should we be concerned with school drop-outs?

3. Should students wait until entering college or even the second year before deciding on a career?

4. Can elementary students be divided by the educational abilities as they move from one grade to another?

5. How can parents assist educators with disciplinary problems in the schools?

Question Number 4 drew the most discussion, with several good ideas contributed by the audience. Number 2 elicited the information that the average for the Grayling Schools is a low 3.7 percent.

On the lunch committee were Mrs. Ralph Hoffman, Mrs. Art Clough Jr., and Mrs. Jim Thompson.

Don't forget the P.T.A. Family Fun Night April 4th.
